COUNTY BRIDGE OPENED

Maple Creek Structure Completed Six Weeks Ahead of Time

FIRST TRAFFIC FRIDAY

Six weeks before the time set, the bridge spanning Maple Creek and connecting Charleroi and Speers boroughs at the end of McKean avenue, was officially opened for traffic on Friday. The street committee of council consisting of Councilmen D. R. Duvall, W. H. Calvert and W. R. Gault crossed the bridge as the official act which signified its opening to the public.

The C. M. Driver contracting company of Pittsburgh was the firm which did the work of building the bridge. However, it was largely due to the efforts of Harry Meanor the foreman that the structure was finished so much ahead of time.

The bridge is built entirely of reinforced concrete. It has a big span. The bridge is considered one of the most substantially built and most artistic now owned by the county.

Flooded Mine Near Coal Centre Never to be Opened Again by Coal Company

From an investigation of the old Globe mine which was flooded on Wednesday of this week by a cloud-burst which also resulted in a large amount of ballast being washed from under the railroad tracks at the mouth of the mine, it seems it will be impossible to continue operations. It is believed that at the Vesta Coal Company, which was using it only as an entry to another hill will close it down entirely. Friday water was still coming through the mine. During the flood parts were washed out and the old workings generally damaged, so that it is stated it won't pay the operators to get it in shape again.

Recent Heavy Storms Make Work for Coun- ty Commissioners

ROADS ARE WASHED OUT

It will take several thousand dollars to repair the damage to roads and bridges over the county, due to the storms of the past few days. Many reports are coming into the county commissioners' office relative to damages at various places and the commissioners will be busy for some time visiting places where county roads and bridges have been put in bad shape by the heavy rains and high waters.

The commissioners have been out of town for several days, and where they appear to be a secret for no information can be obtained at the commissioner's office as to their whereabouts. It is understood that they have slipped away on a little vacation, which included a trip to Cleveland, from there by boat to Detroit, at which city they have been attending the grand circuit races.

As soon as they return they will look up to what extent the county road and bridges have suffered by the storm.

The Donora road, which runs between the railroad and the high hill bordering it on the west, is reported filled up with mud from the hillside. Improved roads over the county are reported as badly washed in many places. The work on the improvement of the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge has been held up by the high water. Some work on the bridge was in place and this was all washed away. This work though, is in the hands of the contracting firm, improving this bridge.

Not only has the county suffered, but many of the township roads are in bad shape. The rain has washed

WOMEN DESIROUS OF HEARING PLAN

Mrs. John S. Flannery, Pittsburg Market Expert, Invited
Here to Form Marketing Club in Connection With Curb Market

The idea of a marketing club, as proposed by Mrs. John S. Flannery, the Pittsburg market expert, to be conducted in connection with the curb market has met with favor among Charleroi market women and men. Mrs. Flannery wrote to the Mail a few days ago offering to come to Charleroi to help form a market club, and as a result she has been invited to attend a meeting of women, and to set a date for her coming.

CUPID GIVEN JOLT LICENSE RETURNED

Speers Young Man and Pretty Tennessee Widow Not to be Married Now

Wednesday a marriage license was issued to Samuel Fox, a well known young man of Speers, and Mrs. Ida Peters a widow of 22 summers, formerly of the Speers section, but for some time residing at Briceville, Tenn.

Friday the license came back unused, indicating a change of heart somewhere, says the Washington Observer. The wedding it is understood, is off for good, and Mrs. Peters and her mother, Mrs. William Cates have returned to Tennessee. What caused the break between young Fox and Mrs. Peters is not known. The young man seemed much pleased on Wednesday when he secured the license.

Friday the license was returned by a man coming over to Washington from Speers it being handed to him by Mr. Fox as the man took the car for Washington. Mrs. Peters, with her mother, went to Tennessee several months ago. It was there that the young woman was married to a man named Peters. He was killed in the Briceville mine disaster several weeks ago. The young widow and her child and her mother came to Speers several weeks ago on a visit. She and Mr. Fox became friends, the friendship developed fast, and an engagement followed. The marriage was arranged for the license was secured, but the proposed voyage over the matrimonial sea was not begun.

The Donora road, which runs between the railroad and the high hill bordering it on the west, is reported filled up with mud from the hillside. Improved roads over the county are reported as badly washed in many places. The work on the improvement of the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge has been held up by the high water. LIVE ANIMAL FOUND IN LEMONT WORKINGS BUT NO TRACE OF MEN

ARE STILL SEARCHING

A searching party late Friday found a live mule in the Lemont mine No. 1 of the H. C. Frick Coke Company near Uniontown after the water had been pumped from the flooded mine, but no trace of the three missing miners was discovered. It is thought that if the three miners are dead their bodies are under the debris or have been washed into the old workings.

Friends of the missing men insist that if the mule lived through the deluge of water the miners may be alive in some of the abandoned workings of the mine to which they fled for safety when the flood burst upon them.

At the Superba mine at Evans Station where 14 men were drowned in Wednesday's flood, a new pump has been installed and another will be in place today. The water will be pumped from the submerged workings as fast as possible.

Annual Outing

At the Charleroi curb market this morning there was considerable sentiment expressed in favor of the idea of Mrs. Flannery. Her name is well known among the housekeepers, and the women are anxious to hear plans for increasing the efficiency of a market.

The curb market this morning was a success, as usual. All told there were 12 wagons there. At 7:50 there were but nine, three gardeners having left after disposing of their produce.

CONDUCTOR ASSAULTED

M. F. Glancy Suffers at Hands of Three Mo- nongahela Negroes

HAS THROAT SLASHED

M. F. Glancy of Roseoe, a conductor on a Pittsburgh-Charleroi car, was painfully wounded about the neck and all sorts of excitement was caused at Monongahela Friday night, as the result of an encounter with three colored men. Glancy was in charge of an evening car running in to Pittsburgh. The three colored men boarded the car for Monongahela at an up river stop, and started making trouble at once, it is claimed.

The young bell and caused the car to stop several times it is claimed, until the conductor remonstrated and ordered them to stop. At Factory street, Monongahela, their stopping place, the men refused to get off until the conductor stepped down from the platform. Then it is alleged, one of them used a razor, slashing Glancy's neck.

The conductor went to a physician's office then to Alderman Ellwood's office to make information against the men. Later W. H. Brooks, W. H. Brown, and Raymond Brown were arrested. They will be given hearings some time this afternoon.

CHURCH WATCHMAN ALLEGES ASSAULT BY TWO PERSONS

Charging assault and battery Patrick Stapleton, watchman at the work on the new St. Jerome's Catholic church, has made information before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice against Paul Beaver and another man whose last name he does not know, but whose first name is Steve. Stapleton claims the two men interfered when he chased two boys off the work Friday night. Words led to blows, and Stapleton from appearances got the worst of it.

SESH K. LONG IS CALLED

Prominent Young Man Dies at Battle Creek Sanitarium

WILL BRING BODY HOME

After suffering for eight months from enlargement of the spleen Sesh Kennedy Long, aged 26, superintendent of the Westmoreland Lumber company of Monessen, died at 2 o'clock this morning at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, where he was taken several days ago. The body will be brought to his home in Monessen Sunday morning, and arrangements made for burial.

Mr. Long was one of the best known young men of the entire community. He was formerly a citizen of Charleroi, going to Monessen four or five years ago, when the Westmoreland Lumber company was formed. At the time of his death he was exalted ruler of Charleroi Lodge, No. 494, B. P. O. Elks. He was also a member of Charleroi Lodge, No. 615 Free and Accepted Masons.

No arrangements have been made yet for the funeral, but interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery. His widow, Mrs. Grace Rhines Long and a son of 18 months; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Long, of Monongahela; two brothers, Edward, of Monongahela, and William of East Liverpool, Ohio; and one sister, Mrs. Samuel F. Cooper, of Venetia, survive. Mr. Long was married on July 3, 1909, at Brookville, to Miss Grace Rhines, a former Charleroi girl.

At the time of his appointment as superintendent of the Westmoreland Lumber company, Mr. Long was connected with the Charleroi Lumber company in the capacity of secretary-treasurer. He held that position still at the time of his death. The wife, the mother and a brother were at the bedside of the young man when he died. He had been incapacitated from work for the last eight months when he was first taken sick.

A THANKLESS TASK.

They are talking now about pensioning the retired judges, says the Monessen Independent. A good idea.
Many judges wear their lives out in an endeavor to guide society aright.
Of course they get paid for their services, possibly not enough for the great responsibility they assume.

Few people would object to a law
to compensate worn out officials for their services, but why not pension
the editors who wear themselves out at the desk helping purify society.

No one will deny that they render a service equal to the judges or any other servant of the people. They never get paid for the hard, trying
work connected with the profession, they say more and do more for the community in which they live than a combination of other individuals. They boost and they do it for nothing, they knock on the evils and they catch thunder for it, when any public matter is to be fought out, the editor sits and fights until the elbows wear out on his shirt sleeves and no person advances with a thank you or a word of encouragement.

It is considered the duty of the press to render free services to the town, its institutions and many of its individuals without pecuniary compensation and if the judges are to be pensioned editors want a little something to come in without labor in the declining days.

THE DIVINING ROD MYSTERY.

Enthusiasm with which men have written to disprove and discredit the claims of those who relate successful experiences with the divining rod,
for the finding of hidden underground springs, has served to create a rather unusual interest in the subject, says the Technical World.

It is something like shaking a red rag at a bull to raise the subject again, before the heat of a recent discussion has fairly cooled, but a new theory and a new account of success have come together from France, both of which are worth relating.

That springs are actually found,
and with surprising frequency by men who use the divining rod is a fact that cannot be disputed. But whether it is the rod or the man that finds the spring is the open question.
The Frenchmen claim that the man is the sensitive medium upon which the unexplained influence works,
while the rod is but a means of expression which shows effect. Both observers and the workers with the rod state that only those whom the gift is given naturally can hope to succeed with the divining of springs, and claim that the criticism and ridicule that is turned upon them is due to the fact of failures where the gift is absent.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It is noticeable that many of the book writers are well willing to quit nearly as soon as they begin.

An up-to-date farmer is boasting of a brood of chickens that can ran the musical scale. Teaching them the egg laying habit might be more profitable.

A certain judge is said to have refused to permit a woman to appear beauty is not artificial. It's a safe bet he's married.

Girls with long unpronounceable names are worse off than boys afflited with the same trouble, because the latter are usually provided with nicknames, while the girls must be plain "Sis."

culty in reading many admirers even

It's funny to see some people who always pretend they are in a hurry,
actually get in a hurry.

People are much given to exp'an-

that it "just happened so."

Experienced travelers have need of schedules and necessarily follow them nowadays to find out where they are going, the usual run of railroad conductors and brakemen who call out station names being about as difficult to understand as a trained opera

story:

"Traveling on a western railroad a grandma saw a conductor stick his head in the door. Turning to her nephew she asked, 'Where did the conductor say we were?'

"I don't know," answered the lad.

"Didn't he say something just "No. He just stuck his head inside the door and sneezed."

"Help me with these things,

Washington Streets Damaged.

Several hundred dollars will be

heavy rains of Sunday caused the street to fall in at that point, due to the storm sewer under the street

the paved street. The break extends the road, leaving a mass of deep, sticky mud. Coroner Heffran had a backed up the stream along the valley road to Donora. On this road they came to a washed out place, almost big enough to bury a small house and they had to turn back and hunt for another road.

Evidences of the storm and the Pit Brow Lassies.

How difficult it is to make laws to suit everybody is illustrated again in the tale which comes from England about the lassies of Lancashire. The poor slaves! They spend their young lives pushing heavy coal tubs to the pit brow of the mines. No decent civilization would permit its women to be so injured! So the philanthropists argued, and straightway a bill was passed forbidding the employment of women at the pit brow. But were the beneficaries grateful? Not at all.
They protested. A deputation of them traveled to London under the aegis of the mayor and mayor's wife of Wigan to urge the repeal of the law! "They are healthy," says the report,
"and well dressed for their station."

Drowning accidents are all too common at this season of the year and there is scarcely a community in the State that does not have one or more bare-footed tempter for the nearest swimming hole.

Last year there were nearly 500 fatal accidents of this character throughout the State.

In the majority of cases, these occur in localities where it is difficult to record during the summer season.

Every one who loves to swim should obtain a copy of this valuable little pamphlet and add to his store of practical knowledge, the methods of reviving the drowned. They are comparatively simple and can readily be learned.

Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, has issued a Bulletin setting forth clearly and concisely the methods of recovery and resuscitation in cases of drowning. It is profusely illustrated

Among the Theatres

THE PALACE—CHARLEROI

Rich in dramatic features, with some of the most popular photoplay actors in the business shown at their best, and with a strong bill every night, the Palace Theatre this week entertained its patrons quite lavishly. The Pathé Weekly on Wednesday as usual proved to be one of the principal features and was consequently much enjoyed. Among the events depicted was the annual summer review of German troops by the Kaiser in which the various evolutions of the Germany army were shown, the opening of the Royal Agricultural show by the governor general Lord Denman and his wife Lady Denman at Sydney, Australia, a wreck at Dansville, Ill., a monument unveiling at Florence, Italy, a varsity boat race on the Hudson, Governor Woodrow Wilson receiving congratulations on his nomination for the presidency, and a thirteen-inning ball game between the New York Giants and Boston.

Other pictorial features during the week were "Aunty's Romance," a Vitagraph film; "Honor Thy Father," a Vitagraph and the "Lair of the Wolf" a Kalem. Probably the best of these was the first named. In it Aunt Patience's story of her life's romance is convincing that love is more to be desired than to be impoverished at heart in the midst of riches.

THE COYLE—CHARLEROI

"The Wolf's Prey," a thrilling drama of a blacksheep in the "upper crust" of society featured an exceptionally good bill at the Coyle theatre this week. This picture came as a special, being produced in two reels. Another photoplay that proved unusual in its dramatic features and good acting was an Indian film picture, "Vanishing Tribe."

Holding the boards with "The Wolf's Prey" on Thursday was "Nursie and the Knight" a production that was depictive of the chivalrous in life. Among the other pictures of this week that were considered headliners were: Pa's Medicine," "Reconciled," a Bison film, "Winsome But Wise," a strong drama; "Gentleman of Fortune," and "Troublesome Bird." The latter picture was a comedy.

THE STAR—CHARLEROI

There was an unusually well selected repertoire of moving-picture dramas reproduced at the Star this week. Of the list an interesting diversion from the pathetic or serious drama to the uproarious comedy or farce was provided with a delightful blending much pleasing to Star patrons, the result.

Probably the best feature of the week was that of the two-reel picture "Called Back" of Thursday night.

again before the humble lodger's cottage and it develops the fact that though husband and wife have been estranged, Lord Ronald and Dora Thorne are still very much in love with one another. The climax is a reconciliation--a replighting of their troth in the self-same words which conclude the first act.

It will certainly prove an excellent medium for the Davis Players, giving special opportunities to Miss Thais Magrane in the title role and Mr. Corliss Giles as the young earl. In fact, it will be the first time these popular leading people have played together in a really serious love romance. The other members of the company will also be well cast and stage director Esmerton will give each of the four acts a setting in keeping with the policy of prodigality so characteristic of Mr. Davis.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG

The presentation by the Harry Davis Stock Company in the Grand, next week, beginning Monday afternoon, July 29, of Marie Duran's dramatization of Bertha M. Clay's popular novel entitled "Dora Thorne" will doubtless arouse the interest not only of the present generation of theatregoers but also the generation now numbered among habitual play patrons. The novel of "Dora Thorne" is perhaps the most popular piece of fiction that has been written during the last half a century.

Marie Duran, who is also responsible for the dramatization of "Thais,"

"Carmen" and various other successful plays, has not yet deviated from the heart-touching narrative of the novelist... The story begins with the discovery by Stephen Thorne of his daughter Dora's love for Ronald Earle, the son and heir of Lord

Rupert, and of Ronald's avowal before the father of his sweetheart,

Hugh Fernly, an honest sailor lad, has loved Dora from childhood, but a new life has opened to the lodgerkeeper's daughter and she has given her heart to the son of her father's master. The second act discloses the intriguing of Lady Charteris, whom Lord Rupert has selected to be his son's wife. The old Lord, who has act is originated, Mr. Harris quickly threatened to disinherit his heir, suffers a stroke of apoplexy and ponderers who are under constant inpasses away leaving his son in possession of his father's estate and at all times as to acts or novel sensations that look promising. Every day he receives the names and descriptions of long lists of acts and performers who have won, or claimed to have won, professional triumphs in their respective lines of work. Mr.

Harris then institutes careful inquiries respecting the acts in question and on the strength of his agents' reports, makes up his bills. The result is that Pittsburgers are constantly entertained by the world's best artists, without regard to expense.

Next week's bill will be a splendid exemplification of this when stellar acts which have been featuring in Europe will be assembled for the delight of the Hippodrome audiences.

It will be one of the largest bills of the season, numerically, as well as in quality.

The fourth act begins after a lapse of six months, during which time

Lord Ronald has suffered a severe accident while riding. The scene is re-enacted in the fifth act.

The fifth act ends with a scene in which Lord Ronald is carried off

CATHOLICS BEAT WASHINGTONS; TIE FOR FIRST

St. Jerome's Team Makes Bid for Leadership in Church League.

The Catholics tied with the First Presbyterians for first place through a victory Friday night over the Washington Avenues 7 to 2. The game was won in two innings and topped off gracelessly in the last round.

Timely hitting and a lot of errors figured extensively in the engagement. Two scores were tallied in the second by the Catholics on one hit, three errors and a lot of flukes. Three more runs were secured in the third, with one hit as the basis. Two errors helped along. The Catholics made two runs in the last inning on three hits.

The Washington Avenues scored their points mainly by playing for them in the third and fourth. Three hits in the third and two in the fourth brought in the two runs. Score:

COUNTY BRIDGE OPENED

Maple Creek Structure
Completed Six Weeks
Ahead of Time

FIRST TRAFFIC FRIDAY

Six weeks before the time set, the bridge spanning Maple Creek and connecting Charleroi and Speersboroughs at the end of McKean avenue, was officially opened for traffic on Friday. The street committee of council consisting of Councilmen D. R. Duvall, W. H. Calvert and W. R. Gault crossed the bridge as the official act which signified its opening to the public.

The C. M. Driver contracting company of Pittsburgh was the firm which did the work of building the bridge. However, it was largely due to the efforts of Harry Meanor the foreman that the structure was finished so much ahead of time.

The bridge is built entirely of reinforced concrete. It has a big span. The bridge is considered one of the most substantially built and most artistic now owned by the county.

From an investigation of the old Globe mine which was flooded on Wednesday of this week by a cloud burst which also resulted in a large amount of ballast being washed from under the railroad tracks at the mouth of the mine, it was found impossible to continue operations. It is believed that at the Vesta Coal Company, which was using it only as an entry to another hill will close it down entirely. Friday water was still coming through the mine. During the flood pit口 were washed out and the old workings generally damaged, so that it is stated it won't pay the operators to get it in shape again.

BRIDGES DAMAGED

Recent Heavy Storms
Make Work for County Commissioners

ROADS ARE WASHED OUT

It will take several thousand dollars to repair the damage to roads and bridges over the county, due to the storms of the past few days. Many reports are coming into the county commissioners' office relative to damages at various places and the commissioners will be busy for some time visiting places where county roads and bridges have been put in bad shape by the heavy rains and high waters.

The commissioners have been out of town for several days, and where they appear to be a secret for no information can be obtained at the commissioner's office as to their whereabouts. It is understood that they have slipped away on a little vacation, which included a trip to Cleveland, from there by boat to Detroit, at which city they have been attending the grand circuit races.

The Donora road, which runs between the railroad and the high hill, bordering it on the west, is reported filled up with mud from the hillside. Improved roads over the county are reported as badly washed in many places. The work on the improvement of the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge has been held up by the high water. Some work on the bridge was in place and this was all washed away. This work though, is in the hands of the contracting firm, improving this bridge. Not only has the county suffered, but many of the township roads are in bad shape. The rain has washed

The idea of a marketing club, as proposed by Mrs. John S. Flannery, the Pittsburg market expert, to be conducted in connection with the curb market has met with favor among Charleroi market women and men. Mrs. Flannery wrote to the Mail new days ago offering to come to Charleroi to help form a market club, and as a result she has been invited to attend a meeting of women, and to set a date for her coming.

The curb market this morning was a success, as usual. All told there were 12 wagons there. At 7:30 there were but nine, three gardeners having left after disposing of their produce

CUPID GIVEN JOLT LICENSE RETURNED

Speers Young Man and Pretty Tennessee Widow
Not to be Married Now

Wednesday a marriage license was issued to Samuel Fox, a well known young man of Speers, and Mrs. Ida Peters a widow of 22 summers, formerly of the Speers section, but for some time residing at Briceville, Tenn.

Friday the license came back unused, indicating a change of heart somewhere, says the Washington Observer. The wedding it is understood, is off for good, and Mrs. Peters and her mother, Mrs. William Cates have returned to Tennessee. What caused the break between young Fox and Mrs. Peters is not known. The young man seemed much pleased on Wednesday when he secured the license.

Friday the license was turned by a man coming over to Washington from Speers it being handed to him by Mr. Fox as the man took the car for Washington. Mrs. Peters, with her mother, went to Tennessee several months ago. It was there that the young woman was married to a man named Peters. He was killed in the Briceville mine disaster several weeks ago. The young widow and her child and her mother came to Speers several weeks ago on a visit. She and Mr. Fox became friends, the friendship developed fast, and an engagement followed. The marriage was arranged for the license was secured, but the proposed voyage over the matrimonial sea was not begun.

The Donora road, which runs between the railroad and the high hill, bordering it on the west, is reported filled up with mud from the hillside. Improved roads over the county are reported as badly washed in many places. The work on the improvement of the Speers-Belle Vernon bridge has been held up by the high water. Live Animal Found in Lemont Workings but
No Trace of Men

ARE STILL SEARCHING

A searching party late Friday found a live mule in the Lemont mine No. 1 of the H. C. Frick Coke Company near Uniontown after the water had been pumped from the flooded mine, but no trace of the three missing miners was discovered. It is thought that if the three miners are dead their bodies are under the debris or have been washed into the old workings.

Friends of the missing men insist that if the mule lived through the deluge of water the miners may be alive in some of the abandoned workings as the mule was used to live for safety when the flood burst upon them.

At the Superba mine at Evans Station where 14 men were drowned in Wednesday's flood, a new pump has been installed and another will be in place today. The water will be pumped from the submerged workings as fast as possible.

CONDUCTOR ASSAULTED

M. F. Glancy Suffers at Hands of Three Monongahela Negroes

M. F. Glancy of Roscoe, a conductor on a Pittsburgh-Charleroi car, was painfully wounded about the neck and all sorts of excitement was caused at Monongahela Friday night, as the result of an encounter with three colored men. Glancy was in charge of an evening car running in to Pittsburgh. The three colored men boarded the car for Monongahela at an up river stop, and started making trouble at once, it is claimed.

The young man caused the car to stop several times it is claimed, until the conductor remonstrated and ordered them to stop. At Factor street, Monongahela, the stopping place, the men refused to get off until the conductor stepped down from the platform. Then it is alleged, one of them used a razor, slashing Glancy's neck.

The conductor went to a physician's office then to Alderman Eliwood's office to make information against the men. Later W. H. Brooks, W. H. Brown, and Raymond Brown were arrested. They will be given hearings some time this afternoon.

Charging assault and battery Patrick Stapleton, watchman at the work on the new St. Jerome's Catholic church, has made information before Justice of the Peace E. E. Words led to blows, and Stapleton from appearances got the worst of it.

After suffering for eight months from enlargement of the spleen Sesh Kennedy Long, aged 26, superintendent of the Westmoreland Lumber company of Monessen, died at 2 o'clock this morning at the Battle Creek Sanitarium, where he was taken several days ago. The body will be brought to his home in Monessen Sunday morning, and arrangements made for burial.

Mr. Long was one of the best known young men of the entire community. He was formerly a citizen of Charleroi, going to Monessen four or five years ago, when the Westmoreland Lumber company was formed. At the time of his death he was exalted ruler of Charleroi Lodge, No. 194, B. P. O. Elks. He was also a member of Charleroi Lodge, No. 615 Free and Accepted Masons.

No arrangements have been made yet for the funeral, but interment will be in the Monongahela cemetery. His widow, Mrs. Grace Rhines Long and a son of 18 months; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Long, of Monongahela; two brothers, Edward, of Monongahela, and William of East Liverpool, Ohio; and one sister, Mrs. Samuel F. Cooper, of Veneta, survive. Mr. Long was married on July 3, 1909, at Brookville, to Miss Grace Rhines, a former Charleroi girl.

At the time of his appointment as superintendent of the Westmoreland Lumber company, Mr. Long was connected with the Charleroi Lumber company in the capacity of secretary-treasurer. He held that position still at the time of his death. The wife, the mother and a brother were at the bedside of the young man when he died. He had been incapacitated from work for the last eight months when he was first taken sick.

A THANKLESS TASK.

They are talking now about pen-
sioning the retired judges, says the Monessen Independent. A good idea.
Many judges wear their lives out in
an endeavor to guide society aright.
services, possibly not enough for the great responsibility they assume.

Few people would object to a law
to compensate worn out officials for
their services but why not pension
the editors who wear themselves out
at the desk helping purify society.

No one will deny that they render
a service equal to the judges or any other servant of the people. They never get paid for the hard, trying
work connected with the profession,
they say more and do more for the community in which they live than a combination of other individuals. They boast and they do it for nothing, they knock on the evils and they catch
thunder for it, when any public matter is to be fought out, the editor sits
and fights until the elbows wear out
on his shirt sleeves and no person
advances with a thank you or a word
of encouragement.

It is considered the duty of the
press to render free services to the town, its institutions and many of
its individuals without pecuniary
compensation and if the judges are
to be pensioned editors want a little
something to come in without labor
in the declining days.

THE DIVINING ROD MYSTERY.

Enthusiasm with which men have
written to disprove and discredit the
claims of those who relate successful experiences with the divining rod,
for the finding of hidden underground
springs, has served to create a rather natural interest in this subject, says the Standard World.

It is something like shaking a red
rag at a bull to raise the subject
again, before the heat of a recent discussion has fairly cooled, but a new
theory and a new account of success
have come together from France, both
of which are worth relating.

That springs are actually found,
and with surprising frequency by
men who use the divining rod is a fact that cannot be disputed. But whether it is the rod or the man that
finds the spring is the open question.
The Frenchmen claim that the man
is the sensitive medium upon which
the unexplained influence works,
while the rod is but a means of expression which shows effect. Both observers and the workers with the
rod state that only those whom the
gift is given naturally can hope to
succeed with the divining of springs,
and claim that the criticism and ridicule that is turned upon them is due to the fact of failures where the gift
is absent.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It is noticeable that many of the
book writers are well willing to quit
nearly as soon as they begin.

An up-to-date farmer is boasting of a brood of chickens that can run
the musical scale. Teaching them
the egg laying habit might be more profitable.

A certain judge is said to have refused to permit a woman to appear in court in order to prove that her beauty is not artificial. It's a safe bet he's married.

Girls with long unpronounceable names are worse off than boys affected with the same trouble, because the latter are usually provided with nicknames, while the girls must be
plain "Sis."

A heiress usually has little difficulty in reading many admirers even though she is hard to learn.

whether to go to the seashore for the operated upon for something.

It's funny to see some people who
always pretend they are in a hurry,
actually get in a hurry.

People are much given to explanaa favor and do not wish to appear

that it "just happened so."

story:

"Traveling on a western railroad
a grandma saw a conductor stick his

nephew she asked, 'Where did the conductor say we were?'

"I don't know," answered the lad.
"Want to say something just

Washington Streets Damaged.

Several hundred dollars will be required to repair the damage done by water at the corner of Allison and Wylie avenues at Washington. The heavy rains of Sunday caused the
street to fall in at that point, due
to the storm sewer under the street caving in. A large quantity of earth fell into the hole, carrying with it the paved street. The break extends from curb to curb, and the thoroughfare at that point is completely block-

Railroad Station Entered.

The B. & O. station at Finleyville was broken into Tuesday about mid-

The midnight visit was not known until early Wednesday morning. The miscreants escaped without leaving any clues.

He desired. He brightened up. "Why he cheerfully added, "lets have the

Cats Drive Off Snakes.

For many years I have been running a cattle station in Queensland, where snakes are tolerably numerous. At the head station we have always kept up a standing army of from 15 to 20 cats and have been practically free from the presence of snakes about the building and yards.

That this was owing to the presence of our cats I have no doubt whatever.
They were always on the lookout, and I have often seen members of our herd body guard growling over dead or dying snakes and have more than once witnessed savage encounters between them and their victims. On the other hand, martyrs to their duty were from time to time found dead in the morning with all the evidence of a fight and their defeat in the shape of a snakebite on their bodies.—SPE-

Mollers Plays Revived.

A Moller-pull is the feature of the new dramatic season in Germany; we see that three Berlin theaters have been put on plays of the great French they were in the eighties of the last century. According to one local observer, they have entirely ousted, at least for the time being, Ibsen and the Scandinavians.

The sheriff purchased tickets for them

SAVING LIVES AT THE OLD SWIMMING HOLES

The season is at hand when a few swimming holes have not been deserted. The first two fingers of the right hand will cause any small boy to glide healthily around the corner and set forth in company with his bare-footed tempter for the nearest swimming hole.

The fashionable watering places may be well enough for the socially elect but the rivers and creeks must serve for the majority and the observant traveler can testify that the old to obtain the prompt aid of a physician and every minute is of vital value with excellent photographs. Every importance when a drowned man is to one who loves to swim should obtain be resuscitated. Hence every body should be familiar with the methods of reviving the drowned. They are comparatively simple and can readily be learned.

Dr. Dixon, Commissioner of Health, has issued a Bulletin setting forth clearly and concisely the methods of recovery and resuscitation in cases of drowning. It is profusely illustrated.

Among the Theatres

Rich in dramatic features, with some of the most popular photoplay actors in the business shown at their best, and with a strong bill every night, the Palace Theatre this week entertained its patrons quite lavishly. The Pathé Weekly on Wednesday as usual proved to be one of the principal features and was consequently much enjoyed. Among the events depicted was the annual summer review of German troops by the Kaiser in which the various evolutions of the Germany army were shown, the opening of the Royal Agricultural show by the governor general Lord Denman and his wife Lady Denman at Sydney, Australia, a wreck at Danville, Ill., a monument unveiling at Florence, Italy, a varsity boat race on the Hudson, Governor Woodrow Wilson receiving congratulations on his nomination for the presidency, and a thirteen-inning ball game between the New York Giants and Boston.

Other pictorial features during the week were "Aunty's Romance," a Vitagraph film; "Honor Thy Father," a Vitagraph and the "Lair of the Wolf," a Kalem. Probably the best of these was the first named. In it Aunt Patience's story of her life's romance is convincing that love is more to be desired than to be impeded by heart in the midst of riches.

"The Wolf's Prey," a thrilling drama of a blacksheep in the "upper crust" of society featured an exceptionally good bill at the Coyle theatre this week. This picture came as a special, being produced in two reels. Another photoplay that proved unusual in its dramatic features and good acting was an Indian film picture, "Vanishing Tribe."

Holding the boards with "The Wolf's Prey" on Thursday was "Nursie and the Knight," a production that was depictive of the chivalrous in life. Among the other pictures of this week that were considered headliners were: "Papa's Medicine," "Reconciled," a Bison film, "Winsome But Wise," a strong drama; "Gentleman of Fortune," and "Troublesome Bird." The latter picture was a comedy.

There was an unusually well selected repertoire of moving-picture dramas reproduced at the Star this week. Of the list an interesting diversion from the pathetic or serious drama to the up-to-date comedy or farce was provided with a delightful blending of the two.

Probably the best feature of the week was that of the two-reel picture, "I'm Called Back," of Thursday night.

again before the humble lodger-keeper's cottage and it develops the fact that though husband and wife have been estranged, Lord Ronald and Dora Thorne are still very much in love with one another. The climax is a reconciliation—a replighting of their troth in the self-same words which conclude the first act.

It will certainly prove an excellent medium for the Davis Players, giving special opportunities to Miss Thais Magrane in the title role and Mr. Corliss Giles as the young earl. In fact, it will be the first time these popular leading people have played together in a really serious love romance. The other members of the company will also be well cast and stage director Esmerton will give each of the four acts a setting in keeping with the policy of prodigality so characteristic of Mr. Davis.

THE GRAND—PITTSBURG

The presentation by the Harry Davis Stock Company in the Grand, next week, beginning Monday afternoon, July 29, of Marie Duran's dramatization of Bertha M. Clay's popular novel entitled "Dora Thorne" will doubtless arouse the interest not only of the present generation of theatregoers but also the generation not now numbered among habitual play patrons. The novel of "Dora Thorne" is perhaps the most popular piece of fiction that has been written during the last half a century.

Marie Duran, who is also responsible for the dramatization of "Thais," "Carmen" and various other successful plays, has not yet deviated from the heart-touching narrative of the novelist. The story begins with the discovery by Stephen Thorne of his daughter Dora's love for Ronald Earle, the son and heir of Lord Rupert, and of Ronald's love before the father of his sweetheart, Hugh Farnly, an honest sailor lad, who has loved Dora from childhood, but a new life has opened to the lodger-keeper's daughter and she has given her heart to the son of her father's master. The second act discloses the intriguing of Lady Charteris, whom Lord Rupert has selected to be his son's wife. The old Lord, who has threatened to disinherit his heir, suffers a stroke of apoplexy and passes away leaving his son in possession of his father's estate and title. The third act shows the young Earl in his studio where he has been painting a picture of "Queen Guinevere," for which Lady Valentine Charteris has posed. The latter has systematically poisoned the young Earl's mind against his wife, and although several children have graced the union, there have been little quarrels. The pretext for these misunderstandings is the Earl's misfortune—the crudities of his wife and her father. The act ends with a separation, Dora leaving Earle's manor and her husband and returning to her father.

The fourth act begins after a long absence of Dora, during which time the Earl has become a widower, a very old man. He has been riding. The result is that Pittsburgers are constantly entertained by the world's best artists, without regard to expense.

Next week's bill will be a splendid exemplification of this when stellar acts which have been featuring in Europe will be assembled for the delectation of the Pittsburg audience. It will be one of the largest bills of the year.

In spite of the extraordinary weather Pittsburgh has been experiencing, the rainest July in the history of the United States Weather Bureau, more people attended the Hippodrome at Forbes Field last week than ever crowded through the gates of the big show since it was established. And that is saying much, for from the very first the Hippodrome seems to have struck a strongly responsive chord in the hearts of pleasure loving Pittsburghers and to have supplied just what they had long been looking and longing for, and they turned out in masses to show their appreciation. The attendance this season has been immense and is growing bigger, and the audiences more enthusiastic every night.

Thanks to the progressive policy of Manager John P. Harris, Pittsburghers are enabled to see out at the Hippodrome, every new act that pushes its way to high public favor, no matter where it hails from, whether in farthest India, Japan, the isles of the sea or remote corners of the old world. No matter where the act is originated, Mr. Harris quickly hears of it through his foreign correspondents, who are under constant instructions to keep him fully informed at all times as to acts or novel sensations that look promising. Every day he receives the names and descriptions of long lists of acts and performers who have won, or claimed to have won, professional triumphs in their respective lines of work.

Mr. Harris then institutes careful inquiries respecting the acts in question and on the strength of his agents' reports makes up his bills. The result is that Pittsburgers are constantly entertained by the world's best artists, without regard to expense.

Next week's bill will be a splendid exemplification of this when stellar acts which have been featuring in Europe will be assembled for the delectation of the Pittsburg audience. It will be one of the largest bills of the year.

To Purify Water.

To purify water sprinkle a tablespoonful of pulverized alum into a bushel of water (the water to be stirred at the same time). It will after a few hours, by precipitating to the bottom the impure particles, so purify the water that it will be found to possess nearly all the freshness and clearness of spring water. A pail containing four gallons may be purified by a teaspoonful of alum—National Magazine.

Noble Ideal.

In the effort to appreciate various forms of greatness, let us not underestimate the value of a simply good life. Just to be good; to keep life pure from degrading elements, to make it constantly helpful in little ways to those who are touched by it to keep one's spirit always sweet, and avoid all manner of petty anger and irritability—that is an ideal as noble as it is difficult.

Babies Chew Tobacco.

Babies, babies, it is alleged, are seldom weaned before the fourth or fifth year, but are taught to chew tobacco and to swallow the juice even as early as the ninth month. The outcome—general with both sexes—of inhaling tobacco smoke and swallowing tobacco juice seem to be of no recent growth. No evil results of either practice seem to be apparent.—Medical

Too Deep.

Joseph E. Widener was showing a group of visitors his father's incomparable picture gallery at Lynwood Hall, the Widener residence of white marble near Philadelphia.

The talk turned to forged Raphael and Mr. Widener said:

"There is an American who bought a Raphael in Rome some years ago. The Italian law prohibits the exportation of masterpieces, and the American had the happy idea of getting the Raphael painted over. This was accordingly done. The rare old painting reached New York in the guise of a modern snow scene."

"Then a restorer, under the watchful owner's eye, set to work on it. With a sponge dipped in turpentine he proceeded to rub the snow scene off. He sponged it off readily, but he sponged a bit of the Raphael off, too—and, behold, underneath the Raphael a portrait of Marco! was revealed."

The Catholics tied with the First Presbyterians for first place through a victory Friday night over the Washington Avenues 7 to 2. The game was won in two innings and topped off gracefully in the last round.

Timely hitting and a lot of errors figured extensively in the engagement. Two scores were tallied in the second by the Catholics on one hit, three errors and a lot of flukes. Three more runs were secured in the third, with one hit as the basis. Two errors helped along. The Catholics made two runs in the last round on three hits.
